Among Maratha coins the gold Hons of Shivaji have a legendary reputation. Very few pieces are known, apart from three in institutional collections, that the cataloguer is familiar with. Broadly they are divided into two categories – 'fine' style and 'crude' style. The one illustrated by Maheshwari & Wiggins belongs to the second category.

It is plausible that the 'fine' Hons, such as the one offered here, were struck in Maharashtra where the engravers knew the correct flow of Devanagari letters. The 'crude' Hons, on the contrary, were issued further South and/or later in the 18th century. The issue of 'fine' Hons commenced at the coronation of Shivaji, held at Raigad in June 1674. It is attested that as part of coronation rituals, Shivaji was lustrated by his ministers with several thousands of Hons who poured the coins over the king's body as he sat on his throne.

The design of the Hon stands testimony to Shivaji's simplicity and devotion to his culture. Among all contemporary Farsi coins, his issues stand apart bearing only Devanagari inscriptions which are devoid of any grand titles. It alludes to the traditional vision of Kingship where the king is merely a representative of the Gods, governing for the general wellbeing of his subjects and leading them towards prosperity and plenitude.

 Sold for : ₹ Estimate : ₹ 2,50,000 - 3,50,000

One of the most glamorous Maratha coin, popularly known as the 'Ganapati-Pantapradhan rupee', was struck by the Patwardhans of Miraj to indicate their loyalty to the Peshwa by explicitly mentioning the Marathi version of his title on it. It is likely to have been struck when the Patwardhans were drawn into a conflict with the Chhatrapatis of Kolhapur during the late 18th century - the date 1202 which is most probably in the Fasli Era, corresponds to 1792AD.

 Sold for : ₹ Estimate : ₹ 20,000 - 25,000

The coins of Sashti were first published by Pukhraj Surana in 'Numismatic Digest' 1980. Maheshwari & Wiggins subsequently discussed them in their monograph. They list a 1/2 Paisa as T1 but this is the first time a 1/4 Paisa is brought to notice. The attribution of the coin to Sashti is beyond doubt by the reverse legend, which is most likely a date in the Rajyabhisheka Era instituted by Shivaji in 1674AD. The province was lost to the British in 1774 as a result of the first Anglo-Maratha war, so the coins are struck a few years before the British conquest. The mint was most probably located at Kalwa, which is now a suburban railway station just beyond Thane.

 Sold for : ₹ Estimate : ₹ 4,000 - 5,000

Although Maheshwari & Wiggins list this as a Maratha issue, it is absolutely certain that the town and fort of Jhansi were taken over by Shuja'a ud-Daula following the chaos after the Maratha defeat of Panipat. It was wrested back by the Marathas in 1765. The coins struck under Awadh control are markedly different than the Maratha issues and also include extra inscription 'Roshan Akhtar' on reverse, of which very little is seen on this coin.
